Life Styling offers a flexible approach to staging your home for sale, from individual room dressing to whole house interior design & furnishing.

When selling your house in a competitive market your property needs to be inviting and stand out among the competition in order to sell quickly and maximise its market value. Life Styling's furniture rental and staging service provides a high quality finish to your home without the costs and hassle of buying and installing new furniture. Furnishing the property allows prospective buyers to understand room layout and size whilst highlighting the building's features and adding character to the shell.

Working with private individuals, local developers and builders, Life Styling combines our interior design skills with furniture rental to ensure your property is completed to the highest standard.

Our designers will work with you to choose finishes that make the most of the architectural features including floor, wall and window treatments. We furnish keeping potential buyers in mind, with a classic style in neutral tones, adding charming accessories to bring the property to life.

Life worked efficiently to transform the layout and style of my home into a house that would appeal to a broad market. Their choice of furniture and accessories was perfect for a difficult space and by investing a small amount I quickly achieved the asking price on my home.

R Moody, Henley

Life's colour scheme and dressing has completely overhauled our company style and provided us with a portfolio library for our website and marketing. Their insight into how furniture can enhance a space has allowed us to improve the room layouts for our future developments. The team from Life turned our show house into a very desirable home which achieved way over the previous highest price for the road.

CASE STUDY 1

A local developer approached us to help with the finish and styling of a new build family home. From advice on floor, window and wall treatments to developing a tonal colour scheme which complemented the style of the house, we moved on to choose furniture and accessories to dress the house, maximising the potential of the space. The client launched the house onto the market and quickly received their first offer, allowing them to begin their next development.

CASE STUDY 2

Last Autumn we were asked to help with a house in central Henley which was struggling to sell. The period property had received many viewings but no offers. The house had been modernised to a good standard however the layout was confusing and the furniture did not fit the property.

Our team advised the client on an improved layout and changed key pieces of furniture in order that buyers could see the true potential. Once the styling was complete the property was re-launched to the market and received an asking price offer within 2 weeks; a record price for the location.
